

Your Registration Certificate and New York Tax Preparer Registration Identification Number (NYTPRIN) are below.
You must:

- Post this registration certificate at your place of business and at any other location where you provide tax preparation and/or facilitation services.

If you registered as a tax return preparer, you must:

- Sign your name and include your NYTPRIN on every New York State return or report that you prepare.
- Electronically file (e-file) every New York State tax return that you prepare
- Re-register annually
- Pay the annual registration fee if you are a commercial tax return preparer

If you registered as a facilitator, you must:

- Sign your name and include your NYTPRIN on the written disclosure agreement you must provide to clients for any refund anticipation loan or refund check you facilitate. See TSB-M-09(13)I for more information.
- Re-register annually

Failure to comply with these requirements will result in monetary penalties and disciplinary action.

Not an endorsement

Registration of tax return preparers and facilitators is an important step in consumer protection. However, the issuance of a Certificate of Registration isn't an endorsement by the State; you can't use it to advertise your services or qualifications.
